The focus of our chair is on combining sculptural aesthetics with comfort and usability. By using earthy materials and nature-inspired forms, the design aims to create a strong visual impact while maintaining functionality. The chair is not just a seating element but a representation of culture, nature, and modern design thinking. It is visually appealing and goes great with the South African wildlife region, which is being designed for the commercial sitting as an accent chair such as in a luxurious hotel lobby.

About the designers

We are Post Graduate Interior design students who have created Sculpted Savannah, a furniture project inspired by the natural beauty and culture of South Africa. Our designs reflect organic shapes, earthy textures, and the essence of the savanna. We focus on making furniture that is both functional and expressive, blending modern design with natural influences.

Design Takeaway

Inspired by South Africa rich wiltural diversity, and handcrafted traditions, the design focuses on organic forms, storytelling through carving, natural materials.

Design Inspiration

Sculpted Savana is inspired by nature and wildlife, translating organic forms into a sculptural accent chair. Based on furniture research, the design combines functionality with artistic expression. The hand-carved details and natural materials create a strong visual identity, making the chair both a functional piece and a statement of storytelling design.
